Project

EDA, time series and climate regions analysis

2023

In this data science project, our team worked together on data cleaning, visualization, and developing predictive models to forecast temperature changes. We used Google Colab, focusing on climate regions and time series trends for the WIDS 2023 challenge.

Blind Eye Stick (BES)

present

Graduation Project

We developed a smart blind stick using Arduino to help visually impaired people navigate safely. The stick detects obstacles and provides audio alerts. It also connects to a mobile app, allowing family members to track the user’s location and communicate with them in emergencies.
